

Viewing the brain in 3-D

General Electric graphics scientist Dr. Boris Yamrom, left, and graphics engineer William E. Lorensen demonstrate how their software provides 3-D visualization of the human brain. The GE Research and Development Center team, based in Niskayuna, won top honors in Computerworld Magazine's Object Application Awards program for the system, which may someday be used for planning surgery.